Why You May Need a Plan In Place (value drivers)

- Demonstrate preparedness should your campus have to close for any duration of time this summer
- Prepare for an immediate action plan now to avoid a potential last minute scramble
- Facilitate a creative solution for the families and communities you serve - families who depend and rely upon your camp services
- Avoid the time and pressure to refund or credit families for confirmed registrations and revenue already collected
- Generate revenue and good-will while other schools and camps may be refunding families, losing revenue, and closing their doors to families who still need activities and supervision for their children
- Institute a plan and build additional trust among your community and create an extremely loyal and long term customer base (campers and parents)
- Adopting the Drobots Virtual Camp presents no-risk to the school or camp. Drobots is compensated only if the contingency plan is in effect.

Hey Rob,

There are no words to describe how this camp has literally changed our lives. Sounds ridiculous, but Luke had his alarm set this morning and could not wait to begin. We try to hide our anxiety from him with all the shifts I am working—and how grossly unprepared my medical system is for this—but I know it's getting through to him. He is able to focus on something completely different with this camp (and virtually see other kids!). Thank you soooo much. We appreciate this opportunity for Luke more than you can imagine!

A Proactive & Innovative Contingency Plan To Keep Your School's 2020 Summer Camp Season “Open”

Dear Camp Directors, School Administrators and Friends,

News and facts surrounding the topic of Coronavirus certainly have been increasingly alarming here in the US since March. Some of you (and some of us) have already been personally impacted by the virus. For many persons across the country with whom we have spoken to, we understand and empathize with the stress you have been under over the past few weeks. Please know we are here to help. With lives at risk, we hope that conditions improve as quickly as possible. In the interim, we all should brace ourselves for turbulence and have a prepared mindset for the scenarios that may play out.

From what we have come to understand, many of you have been inundated by suggestions for precautions to take around COVID-19 to protect the health and welfare of you, your fellow colleagues, your organization, your school community, and your families. Like many, we have researched and studied the available information and moreover, learned from the government's health-related agencies, however we know very little about the short or long term effects of Coronavirus.

However, the information provided within this document is about something else: ensuring the stability of your summer camp operations while managing the potential business consequences due to the spreading effects of the virus. Here at Drobots we have two important core values: The first one is simple: to serve children, parents and community.

The second of our core values - and something we see so often with our educators and partners - is being able to adapt to change. We know that the very thought of operating a Virtual Camp may seem intimidating, so we've put together this informational packet to help empower our schools, partners, and camp directors with an opportunity to adapt in this time of uncertainty.

It is for that reason I present you with a contingency plan. Hopefully a plan that will only have to be executed for one summer.

Onwards,
Robert Elwood
Drobots Founder & CEO

There are many different roles at a Drobots Virtual Summer Camp, but there is only one single purpose for each and every one of us: to make certain all campers who attend a Drobots Camp program have one of the most memorable, interactive and fun learning experiences of their lives.

Hey Rob,

Oh my goodness he was asking if there were going to be more camps! If he can sign up again, I'd absolutely love to. He's a magic wiz (we don't have cable TV or devices other than a laptop so he works on magic tricks all day 😂).

Thank you, again, and when we are done with all of this, I would love to treat you all to dinner or donate to the camp!

One of Many Testimonials Drobots Received After Virtual Camp Trial Run In March 2020

Hey Rob,

Both of my kids are both loving it. Bailey cried Mon/Tues (Mon she couldn't figure something out). It was a good observation/revision from Mon-Tues to change up what the 8-9 year old were doing...and just before the laptop died she was yelling "I'm so proud of myself! I LOVE my Piskel".

Drew loves it and is self-sufficient (after about the first 15 min of the first day).

All Drobots instructors graduate from our mandatory training sessions. Throughout our training, we train our instructors how to maintain control of the session, manage appropriate language, and ensure the rules are being followed - exactly as our instructors would expect from campers participating in any on-location camp program.

All Drobots instructors have completed sexual harassment sensitivity training and preventive child abuse training. In addition, we conduct thorough background checks on all employees including but not limited to:

- Employment Background Investigations (EBI)
- State and National Security Check

All of our programs are accessible and hosted on a secure network, so only campers enrolled in a Drobots program, and those who adhere to our Code of Conduct, have the opportunity to gain access to our Virtual Camp platform.

Regardless of a camper's interest or experience, Drobots has a Virtual Camp program prepared for girls and boys this summer. Programs range from game design, storytelling, entrepreneurship, photography & videography, digital creations, and graphic design. We even have a choose-your-own-adventure camp that is out of this world! Regardless of the program your child joins, each one of our camp programs offers a variety of levels and challenges as well as a dedicated professionally-trained adult instructor.

Will Virtual Camp Come With Challenges?

- Yes, of course. Nothing is perfect - especially in such unknown situations that presently, we all face together.
- We also know how difficult it is to acknowledge, not to mention, how challenging it will be to ask your customers (parents) to comprehend and understand that a Virtual Camp can serve as a viable option.
- However, the world of online instruction continues to evolve. Already, remote learning is the reality for many students at school. Many high schools and colleges, have transitioned to an “eLearning” environment, for many of their unique courses.
- But again, while remote learning is great in some capacities and for some programs, there are many more situations in a summer camp environment where this is not appropriate and will not give you, or the camper, the experience they desire and signed up for. It is relatively easy to live stream a lecture by a teacher. The challenge is: how can one replace multi-person discussions, physical activity sessions, and the social environment of a summer camp?
- Drobots is prepared and up for the challenge.

Why Drobots Company?

- ➔ Drobots is a trusted nationwide leader within the summer camp industry with 10+ years using video-based technology to deliver programming and training for over 20,000 campers and counselors.
- ➔ With over 22 years experience delivering innovative and engaging programs for hundreds of thousands of campers, Drobots is well-prepared to offer a Virtual Camp this summer. Our experience is unmatched as our company owner and leadership team have a tremendous track record of delivering sports camps, traditional day camps, culinary camps, technology camps, drones camps, robotics camps, and more.
- ➔ Drobots offers safe, interactive, positive and moderated online learning environments and programs for campers. Similar to the mission of our in-person/on-location programs, our primary mission is to facilitate an online virtual community where campers may build, experiment, play, and learn from our professional adult-led instructors as well as from one another.
- ➔ Drobots' Virtual Camp programs have been developed, tailored, and specifically selected to offer fun, yet challenging and innovative programming for campers of all ages and skill levels.

Camp programs are designed and tailored by grade and skill level. We are flexible. This means that campers may choose to join another program, should they find the curriculum overly complicated or too simple.

Customized camp programs

The Drobots Virtual Summer Camp offers curriculum and lesson plans with a specific goal in mind, to further your child's current passions and stimulate a curiosity for experimentation and learning.

Post-camp follow-up

Following each weekly program, parents will receive a summary description delivered to their email inbox, summarizing the curriculum, real-life applicability, and highlights.

Questions and support

If parents or campers have questions or need assistance in any way, Drobots instructors and the entire Drobots HQ team is here to help. We will provide assistance, as needed, during the program and after the weekly program concludes.

What is being offered:

Drobots, in conjunction with our global network of professional instructors and our extensive online virtual learning platform, is offering an alternative to on-location camp experiences.

Why we are offering:

As the global community continues to understand, react and prepare for the potential long term impact of the Covid-19 outbreak, parents and students are starting to face the realization of state-mandated closures of schools, sporting events, and extracurricular activities. Therefore, with the summer camp season only months away and in response to what could be an unfortunate, but inevitable situation, Drobots has created a virtual platform to support summer camp programs from having to completely close their doors.

What is the platform and how does it work?

Drobots' virtual online platform is an instructor-led virtual camp, allowing students to engage and participate in unique, creative, enjoyable, and educational programs, all from the comfort of their own home.

Who is eligible to enroll?

Families who have students already enrolled in a summer camp, or families who may be seeking alternatives to on-location summer camp experiences, will have the opportunity to enroll in (as campers) one or more of the Drobots virtual summer camp programs.
